

Meeting Agenda

Opening and Introduction

Participants introducing themselves

Emphasizing the purpose and importance of the project

Project Goals and Expectations

Importance of youth leadership training

Identified goals of the project

Module Introductions

Content of training modules

How to implement the modules

Collaboration and Partnership

Opportunities for cooperation with partner countries

Planning joint activities

Implementation Strategies

Strategies for implementing the training program
Activities to be held at the local level
Feedback and Evaluation

Feedback from participants
Evaluation of the training program
Conclusion and Closing

Determining next steps
Thanking participants and closing
Topics Discussed
Definition and importance of youth leadership
Different cultural perspectives and sharing of experiences
Impact of training modules on the development of young people
Contributions of partner countries within the scope of the project
Participate of young people in social responsibility projects
Future plans and sustainability

The modules to be covered in an international youth leadership training program generally included the following topics.

Training Modules
Youth Leadership Basics

Leadership concept and types
Importance and impact of youth leadership
Communication Skills

Effective communication techniques
Listening and feedback skills
Team Management and Collaboration

Team dynamics
Setting and sharing common goals
Conflict Management

Causes of conflict and solutions

Techniques to turn negative situations into positive ones
Project Management

Project planning and implementation processes
Resource management and evaluation
Social Responsibility and Activism

Thinking about social problems
Activism and advocacy skills
Cultural Awareness and Empathy

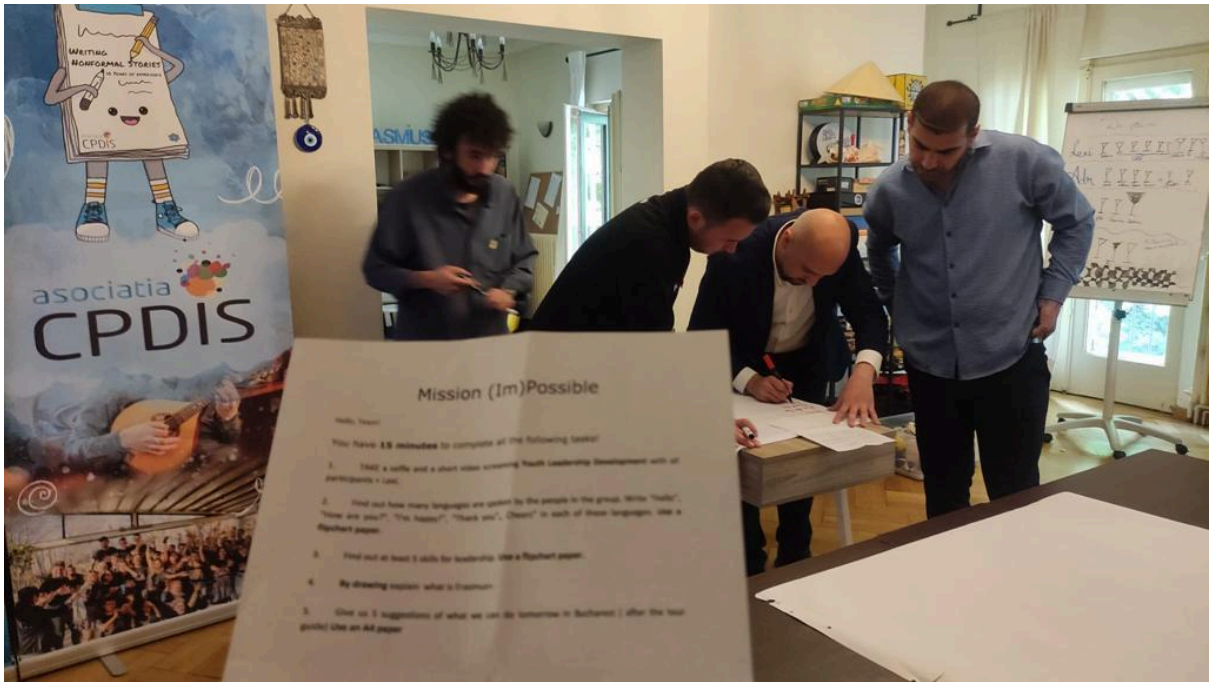

Understanding different cultures
Evaluating cultural richness
Self-Leadership

Personal development and self-awareness
Goal setting and time management
Sustainability and Environmental Awareness

Sustainable life and leadership
Environmental problems and solutions
Digital Leadership

The role of social media in leadership
Effective on digital platforms contact
Course Program Objectives

These modules will help international youth leaders develop their leadership skills, create effective change in their communities, and understand cultural differences. At the end of the training, participants will have both theoretical knowledge and practical experience.

What are the characteristics that a young person who will receive youth leadership training should have as a result of this meeting?

The characteristics that a young person who will receive youth leadership training should generally have are as follows:

1. Communication Skills

Ability to express oneself clearly and effectively

Active listening skills

2. Empathy and Sensitivity

Understanding and respecting the feelings of others

Being open to different perspectives

3. Teamwork

Ability to cooperate within a group

Ability to assume various roles

4. Problem Solving Ability

Dealing with challenges and developing creative solutions

Critical thinking skills

5. Self-Confidence

Trusting one's own ideas and decisions

Willingness to take risks

6. Cultural Awareness

Respecting different cultures and traditions

Being informed about global issues

7. Social Responsibility

Sensitivity to social problems

Desire to create change

8. Flexibility and Adaptability

Ability to adapt to changing conditions

Ability to adapt quickly to new situations

9. Self-Motivation

Determination to determine one's own goals and achieve them

Ability to work with intrinsic motivation

10. Leadership Potential

Ability to influence and lead others

Ability to solve problems and inspire

Gençlik Liderliği Eğitim Programı kapsamında alınacak modüller ve bu modüllerin önemi, katılımcıların kişisel ve profesyonel gelişimlerine büyük katkı sağlar. İşte bazı modüller ve her birinin önemi:

1. Youth Leadership Fundamentals

Importance: Understanding the concept of leadership offers individuals the opportunity to discover their own leadership styles.

Contribution: Young people become ready to lead in their own communities by understanding their leadership responsibilities and impacts.

2. Communication Skills

Importance: Effective communication is one of the cornerstones of leadership.

Contribution: Young people develop the skills to express their ideas clearly and listen to others, which helps them build stronger relationships.

3. Team Management and Collaboration

Importance: The ability to work effectively in a team is critical to understanding group dynamics.

Contribution: Young people learn how to take an effective role in the group and develop their cooperation skills.

4. Conflict Management

Importance: Conflicts are inevitable; it is important to be able to manage them.

Contribution: Young people learn to handle conflicts constructively, strengthening their problem-solving skills.

5. Project Management

Importance: Project management skills are essential to being an effective leader.

Contribution: Young people gain practical experience in planning and implementing projects, improving their organizational skills.

6. Social Responsibility and Activism

Importance: Creates awareness about social issues.

Contribution: Young people have the opportunity to develop a desire to contribute to society and develop activism skills.

7. Cultural Awareness and Empathy

Importance: Cultural diversity is an important part of effective leadership.

Contribution: Young people develop the ability to understand and respect different cultures, becoming more inclusive leaders.

8. Self-Leadership

Importance: Setting their own goals and providing motivation are key elements of successful leadership.

Contribution: Young people gain self-discipline and motivation by focusing on their personal development.

9. Sustainability and Environmental Awareness

Importance: Promotes sustainable lifestyles.

Contribution: Young people make more conscious decisions by developing sensitivity to environmental issues.

10. Digital Leadership

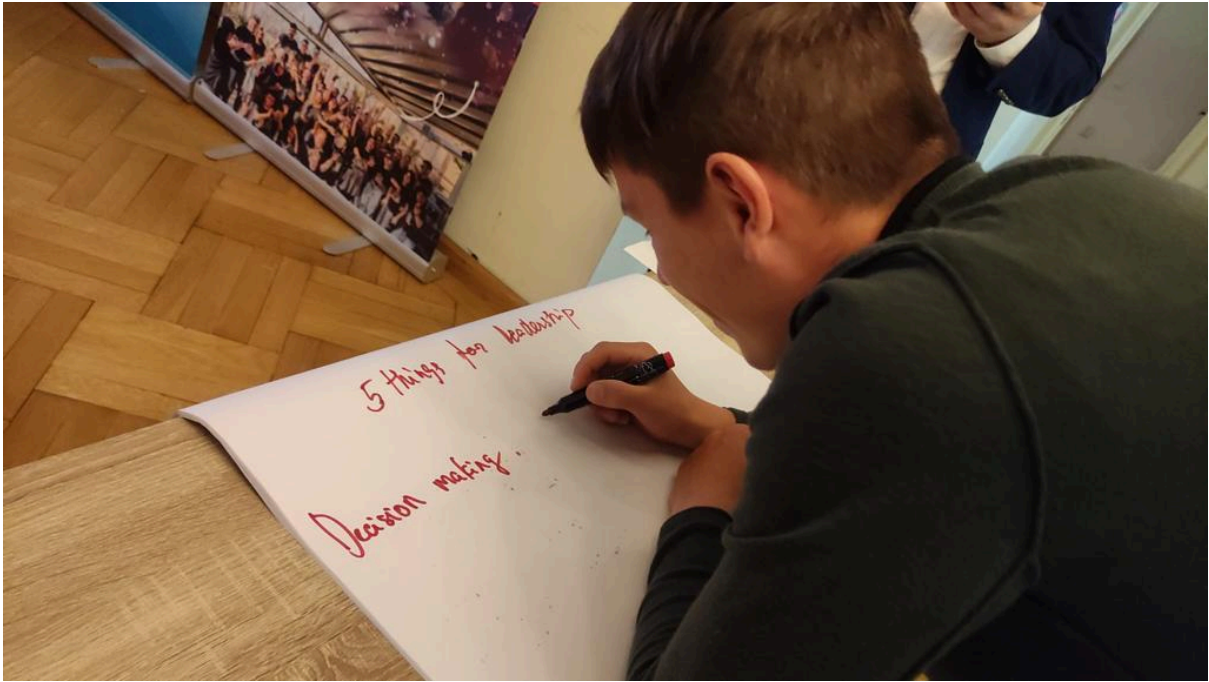

Importance: Provides an opportunity to understand the requirements of leadership in the digital age.

Contribution: Young people can reach wider audiences by gaining skills to use social media and digital platforms effectively.

General Contribution

These modules help young people develop their leadership skills, increase their self-confidence and enable them to create positive change in their communities. In addition, they contribute to their personal development and pave the way for them to become future leaders.

Erasmus+